Exciting news about Presans to better serve you!

We have great news! On the 18th of January of last year, PRESANS launched X-Search, the first worldwide expert search engine. We decided to choose the 18th of January again to announce some exciting (at least for us!) news.

In the past few years, we've had to learn a lot in order to develop robust applications and high-end services to boost innovation. The time has now come to streamline a number of processes and to structure our offering in a clearer way. Read our blog post to find out about Sofia, X-Search and X-Call... and to discover our brand new corporate website.

Presans has new strategic partners

Partnerships and open innovation are at the heart of our strategy. We combine our cutting-edge know-how and technology with that of leading experts in the field of innovation and innovation management, to create integrated and consistent solutions for our clients. Presans partnered last year with BluePatent and SmartSystem.

BluePatent is a crowdsourcing platform for intellectual property researches. On the platform, business enterprises publish search requests related to patents and other protective rights. A global community of experts delivers relevant information to solve the companies IP matters.
